BONANNO HELD ON TWO CHARGES

Is Found Guilty by Judge J. H. Hamilton

SENTENCE IS WITHHELD

Convicted of False Registry and Contributing

Ernest Bonanno, of 768 N. Main-st., was convicted on dual charges of false registry to obtain admission into a hotel and contributing to the delinquency of a young girl, before Judge J. H. Hamilton, Wednesday.

Sentence was withheld by the court pending investigation of additional details brought out in the case.

Original charges against the youth were dismissed by the court, in the light of new testimony, concerning Bonanno's escapades in hotels in Lima and elsewhere with girls, some of whom are known to be high school students, Judge Hamilton said.

New charges covering the case were substituted. Bonanno was found guilty of a state-wide problem involving hundreds of sequestered hostesses who are alleged to cater to an illicit class of trade, may be launched, Judge Hamilton indicated, in cooperation with juvenile officials of other cities.

Bonanno admitted registering in company with a girl of 16, at a quiet hotel in N. North-st. The girl, named as Mrs. Goodyear, of Portsmouth. The youth of the girl and absence of baggage, should have aroused suspicion of the hotel management, Judge Hamilton believes.

USING FALSE NAME
The fact that Bonanno used the name Goodyear when arrested in Dayton, January 4, in company with Phyllis Nelson, 15, a school girl, of 512 W. Market-st., leads authorities to believe that he has been making a common practice of so disguising his identity.

Charges of transportation of liquor can be preferred against Bonanno as an outgrowth of the case, officials say. Testimony taken in a juvenile court shows that prior to registering at a Lima hotel Bonanno, in company with other youths of both sexes had been riding in an automobile. The party drank freely from a jug of wine and some of them became quite intoxicated.

Juvenile court authorities are holding further particulars concerning the party affair, for the time being. Several other arrests may be made, however, it is hinted, after a complete investigation is concluded.

OFFICER ENLISTS AS PRIVATE

Distinguished War Hero Joins Air Force to Escape Publicity

(BY MILTON BRONNER)

LONDON.—(Special).—Imagine a colonel of the army, distinguished military expert, scholar and archaeologist, and friend and adviser of a king, taking an assumed name and enlisting in the army as a private—to get peace and quiet!

Colonel Thomas Edward Lawrence, D. S. O., Prince of Mecca, did that.

Officially he is now A. C. Ross, first-class craftsman of the Royal Air Force.

Even the scholarly solitude of Oxford, where he retired after his service as advisor on Arabian affairs to the British foreign office, following his work at the Versailles peace conference, was not enough for Colonel Lawrence.

Modest to a fault, Lawrence has been turned by the machinery of publicity into one of the best known and most romantic figures in British life. Reams of articles have been printed about him, and Augustus John, famous painter, made his face familiar and created an art sensation by exhibiting several portraits of Lawrence in Arabian costume.

Lawrence, as an Oxford scholar before the war, had made Arabia his specialty and had taken part in several exploration tours of Arabia, making friends with great chieftains who ordinarily were suspicious of Christians. When the war began, Lawrence, then only 25, went to Arabia as a lieutenant in the British army and rose steadily until he was a colonel.

He organized the Arabians against the Turkish-German forces threatening the Suez canal and in 1917 helped revive the ancient Arab kingdom of the Hedjaz. He became the intimate friend of the king of the Hedjaz, who conferred upon him the title of Prince of Mecca, being the only Christian who ever was so honored. He was decorated by England and France and attended the peace conference with Prince Feisal of the Hedjaz.

After all that, what do you think he wanted quiet for?

The answer is: To write a book!

DELPHOS BUSINESS CHANGE
A Delphos real estate business has been consummated whereby Norman Edwards, owner of a large livey barn on Canal-st., traded it to Emory Lamon, farmer northwest of Lima, for a 60-acre farm. Besides conducting a general livey and trucking business, Edwards has a number of hauling contracts.

CHARGE DISMISSED
Adeline Rose, colored, 809 E. High-st., pleaded not guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in criminal court Wednesday morning. She asked immediate trial and after hearing the evidence the case was dismissed by Judge Jackson.

ADDRESSES BROTHERHOOD
I. G. Maxwell, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., addressed the Brotherhood of Calvary Reformed church, Tuesday night at their monthly meeting, held in the Ritchie-av chapel.

MUSIC LOVER IS NOW WEALTHY

Irish Immigrant Fancied Simple Melodies—Started Song Shop

$100 GROWS TO $200,000

Sons and Relatives Are Benefited by Woman's Industry

(BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT)
NEW YORK.—(Special).—Ellen O'Byrne loved an Irish tune.

That love and a little bundle of clothes was all that she had when, an immigrant girl of 16, she landed in this country.

Today Ellen O'Byrne DeWitt owns property valued at $200,000. She has started four of her brothers and sisters through the college and is now on the way to material success, and has put her two sons thru school and established them in business.

New York's thirteenth woman they call her down on Third-av, where the handsome gray-haired woman presides over the destinies of what is now a thriving music store.

Twelve years ago Mrs. DeWitt, after having weathered somewhat more than the usual number of life's storms, found herself stranded with $100 in her pocket and a young and hungry son clinging to each hand.

She remembered the tunes she had loved back home. She took her hundred dollars and started an Irish music store.

All day long she kept the store. At night she would get her boys supper, help them with their lessons and put them to bed. Then she would mend their clothes, straighten her house and do the family washing. In the morning she would hang out the washing, cook the breakfast and get the boys off to school. At 9 o'clock she would be down to her storekeeping.

The store continued to prosper. When the lease expired Mrs. DeWitt bought the building. It seemed to be a good investment, so she bought the property next to it, too.

During the war she let it be known that customers might, if they wished, pay for talking machines with Liberty bonds. Some time later Mrs. DeWitt purchased a home on Staten Island putting up $40,000 in Liberty bonds as collateral. Now she owns two other homes on Staten Island and five lots.

Twelve years ago—$100 and an idea.

"Today—$200,000 and comfort. "Anybody could do it," says Mrs. DeWitt. "My motto? Being saving and doing something useful every minute."

First ladies' night of the year will be held by the Lions club Wednesday night at the Elks Home. This dinner will replace the regular Wednesday noonday luncheon.

GERMANS REFUSE TO OBEY ORDER

then left the conference. The leaders agreed to continue work so long as there was work for them but expressed the opinion that circumstances might cause the industries to shut down.

The French are resolved to carry out their threats of reprisals and imprisonment, it would appear, and the Germans are determined to resist the developments likely to occur.

By five o'clock this afternoon the magnates do not recede from their present stand.

Experts are at work on a plan for operating the mines with German labor and French engineers.

Additional engineers have been instructed to come from France immediately. They are expected to arrive by tonight. They number 200 men, less than one for every pit head in the Ruhr.

MORE SEIZURES ORDERED
ESSEN.—(United Press).—German mine operators in the Ruhr defied French threats of arrest and confiscation and refused today to deliver coal as demanded.

The French, as a further punitive step for this "passive sabotage," ordered the army of occupation to seize more Ruhr lands. Troops advanced toward Muenster, which is outside the zone originally designated for occupation, and march toward Hagen, to the south of Dortmund, was expected before the day is over.

General De Goutte has summoned the operators, headed by August Thyssen, and threatened them with court-martial and imprisonment if deliveries did not commence this morning. Thyssen ignored the order and Hugo Stinnes moved his company headquarters from Muelheim to Hamburg. The latter is not in the Rheinland, but is spending the winter quietly at a resort.

If the French make good their threat and arrest some of the operators the Germans declare a general strike in the Ruhr will follow.

The French today held a 50 kilometre salient, from the Lippe on the north on a line passing thru Datteln, Waltrou, Dortmund, Aachen, Herdecke, and Vorhalle.

WASHINGTON TO LIEKKE
WASHINGTON.—(United Press).—A movement has been started in Europe to bring the entire question of the crisis over German reparations and France's occupation of the Ruhr before the league of nations for settlement, according to authoritative diplomatic advice reaching Washington today.

The advice states that this movement is taking place in Switzerland. In view of the fact that Geneva is the seat of the League of nations, it is believed that the desire to have the European crisis brought squarely before the league has its origin with officials of this body. It is understood here that the Swiss government has not yet taken the matter up officially in any way. How and when the question would be presented to the league is not clear.

While this development causes great interest here it is not thought that a discussion of the crisis on the Rhine before the league of nations would have any immediate or important effect on the problem except to focus world opinion on it. But it is pointed out that France certainly would not change her program because of any activity by the league and probably would not accede to any such interference while Germany is not a member of the league.

AUGLAIZE-CO MAN DIES AT ST. RITA'S HOSPITAL

U. S. MARSHALS TO TAKE STAND

man was attacked at the outset Wednesday by the defense.

Charles Miller, Ottawa, deputy U. S. marshal, told of a visit to her home on Sunday, September 10, in company with Ward Taylor, police detective.

Her version of the shooting, as related to the two officers was somewhat different than that told from the witness stand, according to Miller.

Miller told of seeing Hines at the police station the night of the shooting. His lips were cut inside the mouth, and there was blood on his shirt, the witness said.

Failure of the state to secure the admission as evidence of the deathbed statement of Robert Halloran, a feature in the Hines trial Tuesday.

Attempt made by Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott to introduce the declaration was challenged by the defense.

While the jury were excused, the rival attorneys argued the matter before the court, Judge Becker ruling that the statement was not proper evidence, as there had not been sufficient proof offered to show that Halloran realized his true condition.

Following the return of the jury, the state introduced exhibits in the case and placed Mrs. Mary Baughman, E. McKibben-st., on the stand.

LAST WITNESS FOR STATE
She proved to be the last witness of the day, Tuesday. At the conclusion of her testimony, Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott suddenly rested the case of the state.

Testimony of Mrs. Baughman was calculated to disprove the contention of the defense that blows were struck on either side prior to the firing of the first shot.

The witness, declared she has resided in E. McKibben-st. for a period of five years. Her house, a double brick structure, is across the street from the Heffner house, in front of which the shooting occurred.

It was a quiet evening. Few persons were passing to and fro. Toward Main-st., the thoroughfare was dark. An arc light at Union-st., threw a light for some distance along McKibben-st.

Lighting the scene, she told the jury. Mrs. Baughman was seated on her front porch with a sister. She was facing toward the southwest, she declared.

According to her story, she observed the approach of Halloran and Hickey from the east and Hines from the west. They were all proceeding along an ordinary gait, the witness recalled.

"Yes, I was watching them all of the time," asserted the witness. "They came together. Just as they did so the two boys separated and the one man passed between them."

"Then, he turned and shot. He turned around. They were about three feet apart. The shots were about a minute apart. They followed one another."

According to Mrs. Baughman's version of the shooting, it was not preceded by a blow or scuffle. The participants met and passed and as they did so, shots rang out on the night air. No audible words were spoken she said, prior to the shooting.

Halloran ran up into the yard of the Sanders home, the witness declared, after the first or second shot had been fired. Hickey crossed the street. The witness heard him say: "Did they get you, Bob?"

EVIDENCE ATTACKED
Testimony given by Mrs. Baughman was attacked on cross examination, attention being called to alleged discrepancies between her story related in criminal court five days after the shooting and Tuesday's version.

As memory as to the surroundings was tested by counsel for the defense in an attempt to weaken her story.

Officers cleared the court room following Mrs. Baughman's testimony, and when court was resumed the state suddenly rested.

Court then adjourned until Wednesday morning.

Three groups of persons packed every available vantage point in the basement court room thru the progress of the trial Tuesday.

Bailiffs were forced to eject spectators during the time of a recess, in order to air out the room. Because of interruption, Judge Becker twice threatened to clear the room, when disturbances occurred at the door.

CHARITY REPORTS GIVEN; 1923 PLANS ARE FORMED

Reports of all agencies who aided the Christmas Mother in the charity work during the holiday season just passed were read at a meeting in the Board of Commerce auditorium Tuesday night.

It was reported that 250 baskets were distributed, 2,300 stockings were given to children by the Elks club, $194 cash donated for coal and $100 worth of coal provided and many other supplies made available.

Appointment of Mrs. J. E. Grosjean as temporary chairman of the 1923 Christmas Mother campaign was announced. Mrs. Fred Becker, Mrs. Louis Fall and Mrs. Frank Humo will act with her on the general committee.

This committee will survey conditions thruout the year and call a meeting of all agencies the last week of October for the outlining of the charity work. This will give plenty of time for all necessary work, it is believed.

FARM BUREAU ANNUAL MEET
Free moving pictures will furnish entertainment at the annual meeting of the Van Wert-co farm bureau, to be held on January 20, at the State Hotel, Lima. Mr. Frank Glasgow, who has a wide acquaintance in the county will be present to give the main address.

NEWMAN VISITS LIMA
John Henry Newman, Columbus, former state librarian, was in Lima Wednesday afternoon, on route from Bucyrus to Ottawa. Newman addressed a meeting of the Rotary club in Bucyrus Tuesday and is scheduled for a talk before an organization of farmers at Ottawa Wednesday night.

WEATHERMAN HAS RECENTED

The weatherman has recanted. Evidence that he had become determined to withhold freezing conditions and sunshine has been dispelled. He came thru with a rush last night, having extended an invitation to Boreas to bestow a whiff of his icy breath.

All was done according to Hoyle or as programmed. When the forecast called Tuesday night, he certainly knew his business. Early risers Wednesday were greeted by the handwork of Jack Frost in crystals on the windows in gorgeous forms.

"Twas a delightful winter day, you'll agree," but thus far the present winter has not been anything like those of the "good old days," elder residents of the city will tell you—if you should ask.

Further proof of the fact that Boreas is unable to stage anything like a continuous performance is afforded in the forecast for the day. Cloudy and warmer tonight and Thursday is the program. Perhaps that means spilling excellent skis for the kiddies.

However, they're hoping it doesn't.

BUILDING BOOM ON

Permits at City Hall Presage Tremendous Growth

Announcement Wednesday that Franklin R. Mason, Columbus Grove, will erect a $25,000 terrace at the intersection of him and Charles-sts., brought a total amount of new building during January to $85,000 as compared with only $10,075 during the same period in December.

This will be a nine suite apartment building of modern design and will have six garages in connection. It will be located on the southeast corner of the intersection, the permit states.

Other permits issued at city hall included three homes valued at $4,

JACKSON HONORED IN BANQUET

Four Hundred Assemble for Inaugural of Lima Man

KIWANIS DISTRICT GOVERNOR

Presented With Gavel Made From Historic Wood

One of the most successful trustees in things ever held in the Ohio Kiwanis district was brought to a close by the magnificent Governor's Ball Tuesday night at the Elks home.

More than 400 Kiwanians, Rotarians and Lions, many of them from other Ohio cities, combined to do honor to Walter Jackson, governor of the Ohio district, and George H. Ross, Toronto, Canada, president of International Kiwanis. Dinner was served at 7 p. m. while dancing and entertainment features began shortly after 10 p. m.

During the banquet the Sidney Kiwanis band, which may accompany the Ohio delegation to the international convention in Atlanta, Georgia, gave a program of classical and popular airs.

JUDGE HUGHES PRESIDES

Immediately following the dinner, George Eckert, president of the Lima Kiwanis club, introduced Judge A. W. Hughes as toastmaster for the evening.

Value of neighborliness was stressed by Edmund F. Arras, Cincinnati, international trustee. "Every Kiwanian must meet his obligation to his club, his city, his nation and to himself," Arras said. He also extended congratulations to Governor Jackson and to Lima on behalf of the trustees.

"Kiwanis is not a mutual aid society," Ed. T. Clayton, Cincinnati, past lieutenant governor, told the banquet. He outlined the work for children as handled by the Cincinnati club and urged each member to give as well as receive. He spoke in place of Albert H. Miller, Toledo, past governor, who was called from the city.

Every Kiwanis club is made up of many rivers of action which would sink into the sands of the desert of inactivity and be lost if it were not for the opportunity for service which is given them, President Ross said.

Tremendous growth of the organization in North America has been due for the most part to the possibilities which united service has opened up to the average business man, he pointed out.

"Ohio composes the greatest district in Kiwanis International," Ross said as he introduced Governor Jackson. "We have always expected great things from it and we believe that with 76 organizations for concentrated effort still greater achievements will be seen."

GAVEL OF HISTORIC WOOD

A gavel, made from wood taken from the first church built in Lima, Ohio, in 1803, was presented to Governor Jackson by Dr. E. V. Frein, representing the Newark club, following the talk by Ross.

Appreciation for the honor bestowed upon him was expressed by Governor Jackson in his inaugural address. He outlined a few of his plans and promised the Kiwanis trustees that he would be ever ready to aid them in finding solutions for their problems.

While many of the delegates to the annual trustees' meeting left for their homes late Tuesday night, there were a number who waited over for further conferences Wednesday.

The next international assembly will be the convention at Atlanta, Georgia, in May and the next state meeting will be held at Cedar Point late in August.

Advice for Mothers

Read What This Mother Says

Conneaut, Ohio — "Always during expectancy my back would be so stiff that I could scarcely move without help. I tried various medicines, but not until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did I get relief. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a perfect tonic for the expectant mother, for it not only strengthened me and relieved me of all pain and discomfort but I had comparatively no suffering, and my babies were hardy and strong—absolutely perfect—mentally and physically, which I considered due to the fact that the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I took as a tonic, contained no harmful ingredient."

Mrs. Frank Luce, 237 Harbor St. Your health is your most valuable asset. So, why not get this Prescription today from your druggist, or write Dr. Pierce, President of the Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice, or send 10c for a trial pkg. of tablets.

OHIO GIRL EXPECTED TO RECOVER FROM WOUNDS

MARIETTA — Physicians attending Miss Alice Dunbar, 20, teacher at Mt. Liberty school, who is a patient at a Parkersburg, W. Va., hospital suffering from four bullet wounds in her face and neck, filed by Dow Nice, 30, a farmer of Big Run, who after attacking the woman, ended his own life, were more hopeful this morning for her recovery. She was reported to have spent a restful night.

Altho surgeons had located the bullets lodged in Miss Dunbar's face and neck, only one had been removed this morning.

NEW JAP ENVOY?

Once "Bad Boy" of Diplomacy Stated for Job.

TOKYO, (Special) — A man known two years ago as the "Peck's bad boy" of Japanese diplomacy will represent Japan at Washington if Masanao Hanihara succeeds Ambassador Kijuro Shidehara as carried out.

For in 1920 when negotiations to bring about amity between Japan and the United States over the California land question were in progress, Hanihara caused the Japanese government deep embarrassment by making speeches on the question when the government wanted it yelled in the deepest society.

Hanihara is 46. He is a graduate of Waseda University.

He has served as attaché of the legation at Seoul, Korea, secretary to the embassy at Washington, consul general at San Francisco and vice-consul minister and director of political affairs.

He was one of the senior delegates at the Washington arms conference in 1921.

REDEMPTION OF SAVINGS CERTIFICATES LAGGING

With only $200,000,000 of the $225,000,000 maturity value of 1918 war savings stamps redeemed by the postoffice department, postmasters have been advised to continue the redemption or exchange.

Under the postal regulations 10 days notice is required before the stamps will be received and cash paid. Postmasters have been asked to waive this rule whenever possible and pay cash on demand.

Those desiring to exchange their matured securities for those of the 1923 issue should do so at once, it is pointed out, as the primary cost of the certificates increases each month.

Koch Objects To Trains Serving As Alarm Clocks

Albert Koch, member of the urban mail mercuries' fraternity at St. Marys, is recorded as objecting to "jumping into his pajamas every time a train goes by and running to a neighbor's for protection."

Because of his modesty, Koch appeared before the St. Marys council and filed complaint against the speed of L & W Railroad freight trains rounding an alleged "dead man's curve" hard by his residence property at the S. Wayne-st crossing.

High speed rolling stock stops Koch's clock and shatters electric light bulbs, he told council. A stove was caused by the vibration in an adjacent crossing watchman's shack. Koch declared he isn't peevish, Koch asserted, but he dislikes being

STATES IT ACTED LIKE MAGIC

Lima Lady Is Like Different Woman Since She Took the Plant Juice

OTHER MEDICINES FAILED

"I am like a different woman since taking Plant Juice and I can't praise you medicine enough," said Mrs. W. W. Hanthorn, of 507 East Vine street, Lima, during a recent conversation with The Plant Juice

MRS. W. W. HANTHORN

Man who is now meeting large crowds of local people daily at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square.

"For five years I had suffered from stomach, kidney and liver trouble and had pains in my side and back. I got so bad that I could not keep anything on my stomach, could not sleep and was so run down that I could not do my work. I read about your Plant Juice in the papers and started taking it and will say that it proved to be a wonderful medicine in my case. My stomach has improved so much that I can eat anything I want without distress afterward and I have gained 20 pounds. The pains have left me; I am able to sleep the night thru and can do my own work now."

"Nothing I had tried before had ever done me any good but it seems that Plant Juice acted like magic for I am like a different woman and I just can't praise Plant Juice enough."

Plant Juice is a natural medicine made from the juices of medicinal plant life, and many people who take it say that it seems to act like magic upon stomach, liver and kidneys. It has given relief in more than a million cases in all parts of the United States and has proved beneficial in several thousand cases right here in this section of Ohio.

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Plant Juice is sold also in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office.

aroused from his sleep and having his home rocked by a common freight train.

DEBT NEGOTIATIONS AT WASHINGTON HALTED

WASHINGTON — Negotiations between the American and British debt commissions had come to a halt again today while the British awaited further instructions from their government. These are expected in time for the next meeting which was scheduled for tomorrow.

While the points of difference between the committee continued to be carefully guarded today by members of both commissions, indications were that they were confined largely to the question of interest.

Hope of an agreement in principle

WOMEN FROM 35 LANDS TO MEET

International Conference to be Held at Washington

PROMOTION OF UNITY AIMED

Delegates Are Members of World Council

PHILADELPHIA.—(United Press)—The Quinquennial of the International Council of Women, is to be held in this country, probably at Washington, during the early summer of 1925, according to Mrs. Nathaniel E. Harris, vice president of the National Council of Women and chairman of the Quinquennial Committee.

The International Council of Women is a Federation of National Councils of Women in thirty-five countries, for the promotion of unity and mutual understanding between all associations of women working for the common welfare of humanity.

It was formed in Washington in 1888 and, after the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893, the Council spread to Europe. The last Quinquennial was held in Kristiana, Norway in June, 1920.

Delegates from the following countries will attend the Quinquennial in Washington: Canada, Sweden, Great Britain, Ireland, Denmark, Holland, Australia, New Zealand, Italy, France, Argentina, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Norway, Belgium, Greece, Yugoslavia, Finland, South Africa, Portugal, Uruguay, Ukraine, Iceland, Russia, Mexico, Roumania, Chile, Estonia, Poland, China, Turkey, Latvia and Germany.

"It is not possible at this early date to estimate the number of delegates and visitors we may expect to come to our Quinquennial, as each National Council is entitled to ten delegates and ten alternates, while all visitors are also welcome," Mrs. Harris told the United Press.

MANY MAY BE TOO POOR
"The depreciation in exchange, unless righted, will possibly have an effect upon those countries impoverished by the war. Yet a splendid interest exists and we have every reason to expect a large number of delegates."

"Prominent among the subjects of study and consideration by the delegates will be those of permanent peace and international arbitration. These two questions will provide an important part of our program along with equal moral standard for men and women, public health, education, emigration, immigration, the profession and industrial position of women and child welfare."

Many of us will meet for the first time in 1925 as full citizens, and all the responsibilities, as well as all the privileges of citizenship, and it is for us to prove that it was worth while for the world to have made her women citizens and to have called them to her aid.

"The greatest opportunity lies before the women of America, that of really serving the women of the world and, thru the women, all humanity."

FOUNDED IN 1893

The National Council of Women of the United States was founded by Susan B. Anthony in 1893. It is composed of thirty-eight of the foremost national organizations in the United States, having an aggregate membership of 1,000,000 women. Among these societies are the National League of Women Voters, General Federation of Women's Clubs, Young Women's Christian Association, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Council of Jewish Women, National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' Association, National Women's Relief Corps, American Association of University Women, Ladies of the G. A. R., Ladies of the Maccabees, Medical Women's National Association and others equally important.

"The Council serves as a clearing house for all these organizations," said Mrs. Harris. "It aims to initiate and stress only such national plans as are not undertaken by any constituent organization. Its attainments, however, are the sum total of all the work and all the organizations within the Council."

"Perhaps it is not generally realized that the women workers for social welfare all over the world have already, for many years, been linked together in a League of Nations under a banner which if carried to victory would transform all international relations."

CAPTAIN BLOOD

—BY RAFAEL SABATINI—

"You come to give advice, then, do you?" gaoth Captain Blood, re-lecting nothing of his sternness.

"That's it, Captain; advice. That girl, there." He flung out a bare arm to point to her. "Bishop's girl; the Governor of Jamaica's niece. . . . We want her as hostage for our safety."

"Aye!" roared in chorus the buccaners below.

In a flash Captain Blood saw what was in their minds. And for all that he lost nothing of his outward stern composure, fear invaded his heart.

"And here," he asked, "do you imagine that Miss Bishop will prove such a hostage?"

"It's a providence having her aboard; a providence. Heave to, Captain, and signal them to send a boat, and assure themselves that Miss is here. That'll cool Colonel Bishop's heat, maybe."

"And maybe it won't." Slow and mocking came Wolverstone's voice to answer the other's confident excitement, and as he spoke he advanced to Blood's side, an unexpected ally. "Some of them daw-dlecks may believe that tale." He jerked a contemptuous thumb toward the men in the walk, whose ranks were steadily being increased by the advent of others from the fore-castle. "Altho' even some of 'em should know better, for there's still a few was on Barbados with us, and are acquainted like me and you with Colonel Bishop. We've got to fight, my lads."

"How can we fight, may?" Ogle stormed at him, furiously battling the conviction which Wolverstone's argument was imposing upon his listeners.

The rest of his words were drowned in the shouts of the hands insisting that the girl be given up to be held as a hostage. And then, looney as he was, Ogle roared a gun away to leeward, and away on their starboard beam they saw the spray flung up by the shot, which had gone wide.

"They are within range," cried Ogle. And loosing from the rail, "Put down the helm," he com-manded.

Fifty at his post beside the holms-men turned intrepidly to face the excited gunner.

"Since when have you com-manded on the main deck, Ogle? I take my orders from the Captain."

"Wait!" Blood had him, inter-rupting, and he set a restraining hand upon the gunner's arm. "There is, I think, a better way."

Standing now at the rail, with Lord Julian beside him, Captain Blood explained himself.

Briefly and clearly he announced to all the object of Lord Julian's voyage to the Caribbean, and he in-formed them of the offer which you-

"GOOD DAY TO YOU, SIR," BLOOD SAILED HIM PLEASANT-LY.

Today Lord Julian had made to him.

"That offer I rejected, as my lordship told you, deeming my- self affronted by it. Those of you who have suffered under the rule of King James will understand me. But now in the desperate case in which we find ourselves—outsailed, and likely to be outlought, as Ogle has said—I am ready to accept the King's commission and shelter us all behind it."

It was a thunderbolt that for a moment left them all dazed. Then Babel was re-erected.

"I'll rot in hell for ever before I serve the King," bawled Wolverstone in a great rage.

But Blood quieted him and those who thought as he did.

"No man need follow me into the King's service who is reluctant. That is not in the bargain. What is in the bargain is that I accept this service with such of you as may choose to follow me. Don't think I accept it willingly. For myself, I am entirely of Wolverstone's opin- ion. I accept it as the only way to save us all from the certain destruc- tion into which my own act may have brought us. And even those of you who do not choose to follow me shall share the immunity of all, and shall afterward be free to de- part. Those are the terms upon which I sell myself to the King. Let Lord Julian, the representative of the Secretary of State, say whether he agrees to them."

Prompt, eager, and clear came his lordship's agreement.

With Wolverstone, leaning upon the rail, Captain Blood watched the approach of a boat, manned by a dozen sailors, and commanded by a scarlet figure seated stiffly in the stern sheets. He leveled his tele- scope upon that figure.

"It'll not be Bishop himself," said Wolverstone, between question and assertion.

"No," Blood closed his telescope. "I don't know who it is."

This deputy proved to be an offi- cer named Calverley, a vigorous self-sufficient fellow, comparatively fresh from England, whose manner made it clear that he came fully in- structed by Colonel Bishop upon the matter of how to handle the pirates.

"Good day to you, sir," Blood hailed him pleasantly. "I have the honor to give you welcome aboard the Arabella. My name is Blood— Captain Blood, at your service. You may have heard of me."

Captain Calverley stared hard. The airy manner of this redoubtable buccaner was hardly what he had looked for in a desperate fellow, compelled to ignominious surren- der.

Lord Julian advanced a step and bowed perfunctorily and rather dis- dainfully to that very disdainful of- ficer.

"I have the honor to inform you, sir," he said stiffly, "that Captain Blood holds a commission in the King's service under the seal of my Lord Sunderland, His Majesty's Sec- retary of State."

"And who the devil may you be?" Calverley exploded.

Colder still and more distant than ever grew his lordship's voice.

"You're not very civil, sir, as I have already noticed. My name is Wade—Lord Julian Wade. I am His Majesty's envoy to these bar- barous parts, and my Lord Sunder- land's near kinsman. Colonel Bishop has been notified of my com- ing."

The sudden change in Calverley's manner at Lord Julian's mention of his name showed that the notifica- tion had been received, and that he had knowledge of it.

"I . . . I believe that he has," said Calverley, between doubt and suspicion. "That is: that he has been notified of the coming of Lord Julian Wade. But . . . but . . . aboard this ship . . . The officer made a gesture of helplessness, and, surrendering to his bewilderment, fell abruptly silent."

"I was coming out on the Royal Mary . . ."

"That is what we were advised," "But the Royal Mary fell a vic- tim to a Spanish privateer, and I might never have arrived at all but for the gallantry of Captain Blood, who rescued me."

Captain Blood thrust a parchment under Calverley's bulging eyes. The officer scanned it, particularly the seals and signature. He stepped back, a baffled, impotent man.

"I must return to Colonel Bishop for my orders," he informed them. At that moment a lane was opened in the ranks of the men, and thru this came Miss Bishop followed by her octoreon woman. Over his shoulder Captain Blood observed her approach.

"Perhaps, since Colonel Bishop is with you, you will convey his niece to him. Miss Bishop was aboard the Royal Mary also, and I rescued her together with his lordship."

Swept thus from surprise to sur- prise, Captain Calverley could do no more than bow again.

"As for me," said Lord Julian, with intent to make Miss Bishop's departure free from all interference on the part of the buccaners, "I shall remain aboard the Arabella until we reach Port Royal. My compliments to Colonel Bishop. Say that I look forward to making his acquaintance there."

CHAPTER XXII
Hostilities

In the great harbor of Port Royal, the Arabella rode at anchor.

Aborn with the Arabella, across the harbor, were the flat-topped white buildings of that imposing city that came down to the very wa- ter's edge.

On a cane day-bed that had been set for him on the quiet-deck, sheltered from the dazzling, blis- tering sun by an improvised awning of brown sailcloth, lounged Peter Blood, a calf-bound, well- thumbed copy of Horace's Odes nestled in his hands.

Things had not sped at all well with him in the past fortnight since his acceptance of the King's com- mission. As Blood and Lord Julian had stepped ashore together, they had been met by Bishop, who took no pains to dissemble his chagrin at the turn of events and his deter- mination to change it.

"You are Lord Julian Wade, I understand," was his truculent greeting. For Blood at the moment he had nothing beyond a malignant glance.

"You have granted, I am told, the King's commission to this man." His very tone betrayed the bitter- ness of his rancor. "Your motives were no doubt worthy . . . your gratitude to him for delivering you from the Spaniards. But the thing itself is unthinkable, my lord. The commission must be cancelled."

"I see, sir," said Lord Julian, "that you do not yet quite ap- prehend the circumstances. If it is a mistake to grant Captain Blood a commission, the mistake is not mine. I am acting upon the in- structions of my Lord Sunderland; and with a full knowledge of all the facts, his lordship expressly de- signed Captain Blood for this com- mission if Captain Blood could be persuaded to accept it."

Colonel Bishop's mouth fell open in surprise and dismay.

"Lord Sunderland designated him," he asked, amazed.

"Expressly. Let me present Cap- tain Blood."

Blood's thoughts were upon this and other things as he lounged there on the day-bed. He had been a fortnight in Port Royal, his ship virtually a unit now in the Jamaica squadron. And when the news of it reached Tortuga and the bucan- sers who awaited his return, the name of Captain Blood would be- come a thing of execration, and be- fore all was done his life might pay forfeit for what would be accounted a treacherous defection.

Adventures of The Twins

—BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON—

Many of the wood folk and meadow folk used to sleep all winter. But many of them only sleep for a week or so at a time.

One of these is Scramble Squirrel. Scramble sleeps awhile, then wakes up long enough to get a good meal out of his tree pantry. Then he goes to sleep again.

After one of these sleeps, one day Scramble opened his eyes, then he yawned and stretched and finally sat up.

"My, oh, my, but I'm hungry!" he exclaimed, jumping out of bed and running over to his pantry door. "I must have slept 10 years!"

"Tut, tut, tut!" said a voice be- side him. "Don't exaggerate, Scramble. You've only been asleep since last Wednesday morning."

"You put the last of your hickory nuts away in your hickory nut bar- rel."

Scramble turned and beheld Dusty Coat, the little dwarf, looking at him. Dusty Coat, followed closely by Nancy and Nick who wished themselves up into the tree with their magic Green Shoes.

"Oh, how do you do, friends," said Scramble politely. "Have a seat, won't you. I'll talk to you when I get a bite of lunch. Really, I'm almost starved."

"Certainly," said Dusty Coat. "I just came to see if you wanted any magic sleeping powder. I've got a bagful."

"Sleeping powder?" laughed Scramble. "Not I, thank you, sir, with all my nice sweet nuts to eat! You see I know just where to put my hand on every one of them. This barrel is full of acorns, this one is full of walnuts, this one of hazel- nuts and this one—"

Scramble had been raising all the lids one by one and now he happened to glance down.

Suddenly he gave a gasp.

"I've been robbed!" he cried. "There's not a nut left! It's my rascally cousin Rascal E. Squirrel. I know. He's been here while I was asleep. Oh, oh, oh! Winter here and no food. What shall I do?"

"Take a little of my sleeping pow- der and go to Dreamland," said Dusty Coat softly.

"I'll do it," declared Scramble. "Give it here at once." Dusty Coat shook a little on his tongue.

Dusty Coat and Nancy and Nick finally persuaded all the people of Whispering Forest, Bright Meadow, Old Orchard and Ripple Creek to go to Dreamland.

Porky Porcupine was hardest of all to coax. But one day Jack Frost blew his breath on the trees after a rain storm, and covered them with a coat of ice as hard as stone. As Porky depends for food on the bark of hemlock and beech trees and cottonwood (when he can get it) it left him short of rations. Indeed there wasn't a thing he could see to eat anywhere. So at last he con- sented to take a little of Dusty Coat's magical powder and go to sleep for a spell.

The Twins tucked him in a nice warm hole between some rocks, then they put Brownie blankets all around him and left him. "When he wakes up it will be nearly spring," said the little dwarf sandman kind- ly. "Then he can get all the food he wants."

So Porky snored away, quite as happy as you are on a cold win- ter's night, after mother has tucked you in all snug and comfy under soft quilts.

"Well, now everybody's gone," said Nancy, looking around at the quiet woods. "I suppose we'd bet- ter go back and tell the Fairy Queen. There isn't anything more to do!"

"Do!" exclaimed Dusty Coat in surprise. "Did you think that was all there was to it? Just to give each person a sniff of magic powder and put him to sleep?"

"Why, yes," said Nancy. "So did I," put in Nick. "Goodness, no!" said Dusty Coat. "That's only the beginning. Sleep's no fun unless you have happy dreams. We must go around and sprinkle more magic powder over the sleepers and send them off to Dreamland."

"Oh, and may we go to Dream- land, too?" begged Nancy. "I should say so," nodded Dusty Coat. "We must go and keep them in order."

INCOMPETENCE AT HELM, COX SAYS

Ex-Governor of Ohio Flays Administration in Speech

DECLARES NATION MENACED

Failure in International Affairs Lamentable, He Asserts

LANCASTER — (Associated Press) — The League of Nations is still an issue and the present public indictment is that general incompetence is enthroned at Washington, declared former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, and Democratic candidate for president in 1920, in an address here last night on the occasion of a Jacksonian observance.

"We have the president's own official statement that the congress has passed two measures that would have bankrupted the treasury, except for his own intervention," Mr. Cox said. "The executive and legislative departments are equally responsible for a tariff law that is condemned in every community, as a menace to our markets, a subsidy to campaign contributors and the certain forerunner of industrial troubles."

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

"More lamentable is the failure in international affairs. Never since the dawn of civilization have the sons of men been so plagued with conditions that bring disaster to individuals and uncertainty as to the very existence of nations. Its awful reactions have spared no nation. The disaster is so widespread that any attempt at piecemeal repair is but a pathetic evidence of national or racial endeavor."

"What would Andrew Jackson do now? He would establish relationships with the nations of the world in order to save humanity. Recognizing the futility of waiting longer for alternatives he would ask America to join the only operating concern created for this critical need—the League of Nations. A solemn duty confronts the democracy now and we must not retreat."

The currents of public opinion are running now against the Republican leaders as they did against the Whigs, the speaker continued, and unless present portents are misleading the fate that befell the Whig party may overtake its successors.

TURKISH SITUATION

Turning to the Turkish situation, Mr. Cox said:

"Propaganda reaching to communities has carried the expression often heard from partisans that 'after all are we not fortunate to be out of the European mess?' For the time this may carry the intended appeal but the facts underlying the Turkish imbroglio will in season be known. If we had abandoned a responsibility assigned during the war, the situation in the Near East would not now be so serious. Mr. Hughes' contention that we were not at war with Turkey is an evasion. We were in fact but not in law at war with Turkey. We were an ally of the nations fighting Turkey. We turned munitions over to our allies without question as to where they were to be used. When soldiers from our allied armies went to the scene of Turkish hostilities, our own soldiers took the places they gave up on the western front. There was no interference with war shipments. Not all of the war necessities were imported by Kemalists but most of them were. It is this is not another remedy to be charged against the policy of indifference and aloofness, then I mistake the plain significance of events. The Kemalists offensive resulted not only in an insouciant attitude to the world generally, but in the slaughter of thousands of men, women and children as well."

LIMA YOUTHS TO GO ON TRIAL IN KENTON COURT

Three admitted guilt of crimes when 12 of the prisoners indicted by the grand jury at Kenton were arraigned before Common Pleas Judge H. E. Hoge. Normal Jones and William Cummins, each accused of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, were given suspended sentences to the Mansfield reformatory. Dan Baskerville, Tiffin, one of the three indicted for stealing hides and furs from a Kenton store, pleaded guilty. Sentence was deferred pending the trials of the other two men Omar Garmes and Charles Turpin, both of Lima.

Seven others who pleaded not guilty, and the crimes with which they are charged are: Howard Mitchell, 21, Lima, robbery; Earl Tapp, Mt. Victory, perjury; Joe Nichols, 25, Kenton, robbery and assault; Mike Hicks, 35, felonious assault; Marve Christian, 41, felonious assault; Carl Wolfe, 37, Kenton, receiving and concealing stolen property; Walter Harrod, 36, McGuffey, resisting an officer.

MAY LOSE EYESIGHT

Lloyd Detweiler, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Detweiler, east of Kenton, underwent an operation in Bellefontaine which it is hoped will restore sight in one eye which was badly lacerated when the youth fished a common table fork into it. He was in the act of untying a knot in the shoe when the fork slipped, puncturing his eye.

THE LIFE OF A HOME

A healthy, happy, contented wife is the life and joy of the home and the greatest inspiration a man can have, yet how many homes in America are blighted by the ill-health and sufferings of the wife and mother. It may be backache, headache, the tortures of a displacement or some other ailment peculiar to her sex, which makes her irritable, despondent, and her whole life a burden. Every woman in this condition should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs to restore her to health and happiness. For statistics prove that it benefits 92 out of every 100 women who try it.—Adv.

BE THRIFTY

Veteran Succeeds by Plan Urged During Thrift Week

BY CAPT. JAMES W. ENGLISH
Who started with $50 after the Civil War and worked his way up until, at 80, he is millionaire head of a chain of leading banks.

ATLANTA, Ga., (Special) — I knew post-war days would be rough and I put by every cent I could rake and scrape in the army. After my discharge I worked hard, and a little of what I earned I saved. It was mighty little, but I did it every week, and soon I began to see how even a little money, thriftily saved, could be turned over in business.

Thrifty taught me business judgment, and business judgment enabled me to make progress. Thrift is the greatest asset a person can have. With it, success is usually impossible.

ST. MARYS PLANS WATER POWER FOR LIGHT PLANT

Proposal to operate the municipal light and waterworks station at St. Marys by means of water power is being investigated thru formal action of city council. A monthly saving of $2,000 is declared possible thru water-driven machinery, in contrast with steam energy.

The sum of $20,000 would pay for rigging the outfit with water turbines, it is claimed. The site of the station is convenient for drawing water from the adjacent canal millrace. Several industrial establishments in St. Marys are using water power for machinery driving. Their economy of operation places them beyond successful competition by places using other kinds of power, it is declared.

PEN INMATE IS STYLE DICTATOR

Decides Claim That Women Dress to Please Men

CHANGE STYLE OF COIFFURE

Curling Irons Prove Welcome Gifts to Prisoners

(BY GENE CHON)

SAN FRANCISCO — (Special) — Just how completely is woman a slave to fashion?

Does she really dress to please men? Or does she dress to please herself?

From a strange quarter comes an answer to these questions—from behind prison bars—from San Quentin, California's great penitentiary, near here.

It comes from women serving terms from a few years' duration up to "life."

BEHIND GRIM WALLS

These women are locked behind grim walls, in narrow cells. Only now and then may they mingle—even among themselves. Their clothing is regulated by a prison designer. But for those of an occasional official, there is no man's eyes to see.

In such a place, with the shadows of solitude, of misery, of conscience hanging in the air, is woman indifferent to fashion?

She is not.

On Christmas Day the Salvation Army distributed among the women prisoners a pair of curling irons and a small mirror for each.

ALL HEED DECREE

And already a new style in hair arrangement has been established. Mrs. Louise Peete, sent from Los Angeles for one of the most brutal murders in years, is recognized as arbiter of styles.

Mrs. Peete was trim, fashionably dressed, when she arrived. This gave her a standing and reputation the other women never have forgotten.

By common consent, the first curling iron was presented to her, and quickly down the corridors flashed word of the change fashion had decreed in prison coiffures.

None defied the mandate. No penitentiary rule, no order by a warden was ever more implicitly, more promptly, nor one-tenth so cheerfully obeyed.

And a new fashion, it is learned now, is to follow monthly.

As for the Salvation Army—it was nothing short of a stroke of genius which dictated the Christmas choice for San Quentin's women. Of course, a woman made it.

HATES TO TRAVEL

Travel Expert Has Been 30 Miles From Home

CHICAGO — (Special) — Michael J. Falasz has been sending folks on trips around the world and to every conceivable point mentioned on the postal map for the past 25 years.

Yet he has never been farther than 30 miles away from his own home here at any time, and says he wouldn't go even if he got the chance.

Falasz has a railroad and steamship ticket office in the Congress Hotel. Offhand, he can name the distance to and between all important towns in the world, and while answering questions over two telephones at the same time, finds a spare moment in between to wait on customers at the counter.

"I've probably written travel tickets covering 300,000,000 miles for people," he says. "But since I got my job here, way back when I was a kid, all desire to get out among 'em has been killed."

The Most Profitable Hour In the Day

Just before you go to bed at night--just after the children have said their prayers--is the most profitable hour in the day for the folks who keep a budget. Father and mother sit down together and figure up the day's expenses, listing them carefully in the separate columns of the budget book. It takes only a few moments to see if the expenses were more than the income, and why.

In well-ordered homes, the country over, this brief accounting after the day's work is done is helping thousands of husbands and wives to live happily and within their means. It is also helping them to save something for the future--which is the main purpose of a budget. Make a practice every night of seeing that your budget plan is making your savings account grow, and your family will surely be on the way to enjoying all the good things of life.

Susie Smart's Advice

I AM a daily reader of your column of advice, which is very interesting to me. Now I wish to ask you for some personal advice. I am only asking you this because I am lonely and desire the friendship of a respectable middle aged gentleman, whom I could trust my place. I have noticed some of them put a personal advertisement in the paper sometimes. I wonder if you can tell me if it is advisable for a girl or woman to meet such people or not? If so, what is the most respectable way to introduce herself thru the editor of that list? I would not want to lose the respect of anyone, so I want you to give me good plain advice. I am no dapper, I am just like I told you at first. If these gentlemen are not respectable, I don't want to meet them.

A HEADER.
I AM not sending you a personal answer as you asked, but instead am publishing your letter as I have received several quite similar ones. Believe I can offer a little advice to several readers at the same time.

Frankly, I do not think that any sensible or respectable young girl or woman should jump too quickly at an advertisement similar to the one you mentioned. You realize, no doubt, that she would simply be taking a chance.

It does not seem possible that any man and especially one who would find it necessary to advertise for a wife. However, there may be many good and highly respectable men who have been unsuccessful in their attempt at matrimony and, as a final resort, have depended upon this method.

It is quite probable that this method has proven successful many times but, as I said before, each party concerned is taking a chance. It is for you to decide whether or not you are willing to run this risk. I am very sorry that you feel yourself so lonely and friendless.

EYTINGE TO AID PRISONERS

Former Allen-co Convict Offered $25,000 Jobs

DEPLORES PRISON SYSTEM

Is Paroled From Life Sentence in Arizona

Reclamation of the human waste caused by the American prison system will be the life goal of Louis Victor Eytinge, former Allen-co man, recently released from serving a life term in Arizona state prison.

Discharged from Los Angeles, where Eytinge located after his release from prison, state that he is considering a number of $25,000 a year jobs.

While behind the bars, Eytinge raised himself from a mere penitentiary numeral to a man widely known among business leaders.

"Fifty per cent of the prisoners are not reclaimable under the present system," Eytinge declares. "I believe that convicts should be classified at the beginning, mentally and physically. Then their terms could be devoted to education, not punishment."

"Crime costs the nation a Liberty loan a year. Fifty per cent of the prisoners are two and three times as costly as the average citizen. They commit 90 per cent of the crime. If we can stop 25 per cent of them, look at the saving of $4,000,000 paid for prisons annually."

WAS PRISONER HERE

Fifteen years ago Eytinge, released from the Ohio penitentiary, became involved in a murder and was sent to prison for life. He was told he would die of tuberculosis in six months. He was at one time a prisoner in the Allen-co jail.

He cheated death by lying naked 19 hours a day in the hot sunshine of the hunger ward, stuffing himself with prison slum.

Developing a genius for organization and salesmanship, he set prisoners to work manufacturing things that could be sold outside, thru advertising letters.

His letters were so persuasive that soon the prison was doing a $5,000 a month business.

"I will devote the rest of my life to helping the men locked up," he says. "The state can be found for them, if they are given a lift."

COLLEGE IS RAZED BY FLAMES

Many Institutions Destroyed—Business Houses Burn

BALTIMORE. (Associated Press).—Only the walls of Rockhill College at Ellicott City, near here, the last of the notable Howard Catholic institutions, remain standing today as a result of the fire last night which destroyed the administration building and the college dormitory, three story structures.

Brother Felician, president of the institution, estimated the loss to the building at $200,000 which he said was partly covered by insurance.

Because of the blaze has not been determined.

Brother Felician announced today that practically all of the personal belongings of the student body and faculty members had been saved. He also announced the library containing 30,000 volumes, had been saved. It was at first believed the library had been destroyed.

BUSINESS BUILDINGS BURNED

BALTIMORE. (Associated Press).—A repetition of the conflagration of 1904 when practically the entire downtown section of this city was destroyed, was threatened by fire early today when two five-story buildings in the heart of the clothing and warehouse district were destroyed. The loss was estimated at approximately $500,000, partially covered by insurance. There were no casualties. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

The fire started shortly after 1 a. m., within a short distance from the 1904 disaster. The building was occupied by dry goods and clothing firms. Fanned by a high wind the blaze spread to an adjacent building.

Six alarms, calling out all available apparatus, were sounded. Cold and ice greatly handicapped the fire fighters.

It was seen that the two buildings could not be saved, the firemen concentrated their efforts on the surrounding buildings, mostly warehouses. Slight damage by smoke and water was reported by the latter's owners. At three a. m., fire department officials reported the flames under control.

TWO FINED, ONE VAGRANT, ONE FOR DRUNKENNESS

Earl Murrell, 23, of 829 E. High-st., pleaded guilty in criminal court Wednesday morning on a drunkenness charge and was fined $15. Earl Jackson, 46, of 240 E. Market-st., pleaded guilty to vagrancy and was fined $10.

HANK DEBIT GAINS

TOLLEDO. (Associated Press).—A showing house returns for 1922, show Toledo gained approximately 37 per cent in bank debts, over the previous year, according to the yearly report of R. L. Heath, manager. The figures were: $1,235,717,422 for 1921, and $1,830,988,874 for 1922, or a gain of $495,271,452.

THATCHER IMPROVED

M. Thatcher, veteran Delphos druggist who has been in a critical condition, suffering from pneumonia, is reported to be steadily improving.

CITY TAKEN OVER BY CITIZENS

Action Taken as Result of Arkansas Strike Disorders

200 DRIVEN FROM TOWN

Quiet is Restored After Hanging and Floggings

HARRISON, Ark. (Associated Press).—Harrison today assumed its normal atmosphere after two days of intense excitement, the result of "armed action" by citizens gathered here from a radius of 150 miles, in which one man was lynched, another wounded during a "roundup" of alleged strikers and more than 200 persons were forced to leave the community by a "committee of 1,000." Further trouble was not expected to follow the "cleanup" of persons believed to be guilty of, or to have had knowledge of, bridge burnings and other depredations along the line of the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad which precipitated the demonstration.

The body of E. C. Cregor, alleged striking shop worker, was found yesterday morning hanging from a railway trestle. Cregor is said to have resisted attempts of the "committee of 1,000"—an investigating body of citizens—when they sought to question him regarding the identity of persons suspected of carrying on a campaign of sabotage. Cregor is said to have opened fire when called on to surrender. Later he was captured by a posse and hanged from the trestle.

A brickman named Green, an employee of the M. & N. A., was shot in the arm. His injury is not serious.

TWO MEN WHIPPED

Shortly after the capture of Cregor, George W. O'Neal, local hotel owner and capitalist, who is said to have joined the "committee of 1,000," was charged with sabotage, was taken from his home and whipped. Night Marshal Rash, who was accused by the committee of being a strike sympathizer, also was flogged and ordered to leave town.

Governor McKee who had been appealed to for troops, hurriedly sent joint messages to the legislature asking for authority to dispatch troops to the affected district and, if necessary, declare martial law. Both houses of the general assembly immediately authorized the executive to act and troops were ordered to entrain.

Later, after the situation had improved, however, caused the governor to suspend in defiance the order for military action.

NEW COURT FORMED

The "citizens' court" of twelve men appointed by the "committee of 1,000" to continue the investigation of the M. & N. A. property destruction, said to have requested the resignation of the mayor, town marshal and a number of aldermen and to have ordered a special election to choose their successors.

A. J. Russell, United States deputy marshal of Fort Smith, acting on orders of Attorney General Daugherty, was here yesterday investigating conditions and while he made no statement, he intimated he would recommend the railroad be placed under federal guard.

General Manager Murray of the M. & N. A., was said to have left yesterday for Fort Smith where he will ask Federal Judge Youmans for an injunction restraining further interference with the operation of the railroad.

INDUSTRIES SHIFT RESPONSIBILITY

Passing the Buck Becoming Great Game, Forbes Says

DICTATORS ARE APPOINTED

Subject Suggested to Writer by Coud's Doctrine

(BY E. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK. (Special).—Coud has inspired this column; not anything that Coud has done, but what he hasn't done, cannot do and doesn't pretend to be able to do.

The little Frenchman doesn't even pretend that he has cured any one of any disease or malady or any other trouble whatsoever. All he aspires to do is to put individuals in a frame of mind to do something for themselves. He assures them that they can make themselves better by feeling sure that they are feeling better. Doubtless all his patients have helped lots of people, particularly among the ignorant and weak-minded.

Why all this noise over Coud?

The chief reason is that many people imagined that he could perform miracles and cure them without the necessity for the exercise of any effort on their own part.

I wonder if this isn't becoming a national disease—or would you call it a "mental" disease—this idea that others can do anything and everything for us and that self-help, self-control, self-reliance are no longer either necessary or effective.

Does it not appear to you, when you give the matter thought, that the great American game is becoming "passing the buck?"

Are not a vast number of us seeking to shift our responsibilities to other shoulders?

Are we not going in more for seeking help than practicing self-help?

This disease, or delusion, appears to be becoming prevalent from top to bottom of the scale.

For example, the leaders of one industry after another are striving to transfer the responsibilities of leadership to other shoulders. The moving picture people have their Will Hays, the theatre-owners have their Augustus Thonau, the baseball magnates have their Judge Landis and only last week the dress-making industry put a "dictator," David N. Mossesohn, over them.

When I write the life story of a conspicuously successful man, it is not uncommon for him to receive more than five thousand letters, 75 per cent of them begging letters.

I once published an article about a cripple who had never walked a step in his life but who had nevertheless, gained both fame and fortune by his own unaided, unremitting, tremendous efforts. I talked with him the other day and he told me that he had received at least five thousand letters asking for money.

I constantly receive letters asking me to put the writers into touch with multi-millionaires. Not a few of the readers go a little farther; they want me to make a "touch" on their behalf. Some of the requests are what you would call modest; one writer demanded that I get a million dollars from Mr. Rockefeller and to be very careful to send it all in small bills as it wouldn't be easy to get very big bills changed in the writer's small community.

Neither Coud nor the people's cash can make men or women of us unless we have in us the right stuff we don't need Coud or do we want cash we are not entitled to.

Our forefathers who built up America indulged less in self-indulgence than in self-reliance. There are in Europe countries that need to learn the lesson here suggested.

Let all of us get back to first principles and learn to stand on our own legs.

HARD TO PLEASE

Children Are Severest Critics Singer Ever Faces

NEW YORK. (Special).—"Children," says Marie Tiffany, Metropolitan Opera soprano, who has just introduced song recitals especially for the little ones as an innovation in the world of music, "are the severest critics a singer ever faces."

"Yet they're well worth pleasing," she continues, "for the boy is faithful to the man, and the little girl is mother to the grown woman."

"A concert for children must be simply a delightful story hour, with the tale told in music. It should stimulate and satisfy the little ones' imagination."

"Music should be a part of the education of every child, and when our great artists realize their duty as educators as well as entertainers, then we may hope for the development of the sympathetic type of audiences which every artist dreams about."

ALLEN-CO MAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN LOGAN-CO GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS

D. D. Simmons, justice of the peace of Allen-co and manager of the peace of Logan-co, pleaded not guilty to a charge of embezzlement at Bellefontaine, late Tuesday. He was released under $500 bond, to appear for trial February 12.

Two indictments were returned by the Logan-co grand jury Monday, charging Simmons with failing to account for money he collected for Bellefontaine merchants.

One affidavit was signed by the W. H. Hamilton dry goods company, naming $100 and the other by the Humphreys jewelry store, with $35 as the amount he failed to account for, according to Simmons.

Simmons denied each and every charge, stating that these two firms owed him, instead of his owing them.

FLOGGING DENIED BY KU KLUX

Klan Offers Aid in Clearing up Whipping in Texas

SOLUTION EXPECTED SOON

One Man Arrested and Others May be Taken

HOUSTON, Texas. (Associated Press).—Complete solution of the Goose Creek flogging was expected here today following the arrest of a Goose Creek man. Sheriff T. Blinford stated he had sufficient evidence against the man, and expected to gain from him the names of all persons involved.

The man will be brought before the grand jury today and will face Mrs. R. H. Harrison and R. A. Armand, who were beaten by a masked mob on the streets of Goose Creek on the night of January 5.

It became known here today that Goose Creek Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, last night condemned the flogging of Mrs. Harrison and Armand. The Klan denied responsibility for the act and tendered its fullest assistance in discovering and punishing the assailants.

The official statement condemns the theory of men taking the law into their own hands, and advocates enforcement of the law by the properly constituted authorities.

OTHERS TO BE TAKEN

That the arrest made is but the first of a series was the sheriff's statement on his return from Goose Creek. He let it be known that at least three other persons were under surveillance and probably would be taken into custody before another 48 hours.

After adjournment of the grand jury investigation yesterday, it was learned that Armand, who has been here under medical treatment since Monday, probably would be called today.

Armand's condition was said by physicians to be more serious than that of Mrs. Harrison. He signified his willingness, however, to go to the grand jury room and tell his story.

Mrs. Harrison in an interview published by the Houston Post said she had not said men in "Klan regalia" were among the whipping party. She declared she "did not believe that the Klan had a hand in it, although I believe it possible that some members of the Klan were included in the party."

LIMIT IS PLACED ON MARRIAGE AFTER DIVORCE

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The law as laid down in the Bible will govern ministers of Montgomery in marriages of divorces in the future, according to a recent decision of the Montgomery Ministers Union here.

Members of the Union meeting in regular session passed resolutions declaring they would refuse to perform marriage ceremonies for divorces, unless either party could show the ground of divorce to be that as recognized by the Law of the Bible.

TO BUILD COURT HOUSE

LOGAN, Ohio.—Construction of a new court house here, for which a bond issue of $250,000, was authorized by a vote of the people is to start soon. County commissioners have decided to build the new structure on the old site, and condemnation proceedings have been started for additional ground adjoining it.

MUST PAY PROPERTY TAX AFTER MANY YEARS

FLOER, Wis.—For the first time in several years taxpayers of this city must pay taxes on their property here.

For the last few years this little northern town, known as the taxpayers Utopia, has had the distinction of being the only city in the country where residents did not have a property tax.

Failure of a large paper mill, the town's chief industry, to make any profits this year and thereby pay sufficient money into the town treasury to pay all expenses incurred, has caused the town board to make a small levy on property.

DEMOCRATS PLAN UNITED FRONT

Conferences Are Held by Leaders at Washington

WASHINGTON. (United Press).—Different elements of the Democratic party are being reunited thru conferences now being held in Washington. Definite congressional and popular policies are being decided upon so that a united program may be carried out between the party and the 1924 presidential election.

First, William Jennings Bryan, came to confer with the board of directors of the party; Senators Underwood, Harrison, Robinson and Simmons who formulate the congressional policies of the minority.

William G. McAdoo, who is visiting his father-in-law, Woodrow Wilson, has met these congressional leaders and attempted to sway them to concerted action, bringing the view of the Democrats from the far and middle western regions.

As a result of these conferences two points are being considered: 1—Delay legislation so as to make an extra session of the new and more progressive congress possible.

2—Dropping the Harris bill which would force appointment of three Democrats on the American debt commission which is conferring with the British. McAdoo believes, it is learned, that if the Democrats allow congress to adjourn in March they will lose their greatest public forum in which they can present their policies to the people until next December.

In connection with the Harris bill, it is contended that it would be better to let a Republican commission "go it alone."

MYSTERY SCHOOL FIRES PROBED

Flames Break Out Following Arrest of Offenders

BIG BLAZE AT WELLSTON

Half City Block Destroyed—Loss Put at $200,000

LOGAN, Ohio. (Associated Press).—Authorities here are investigating three recent school house fires following the arrest of several residents on charges of not sending their children to school.

The Haydenville school house was completely destroyed by fire early this morning. The cause of the fire is unknown. Damage was estimated at $20,000. Four teachers and 125 children attended the Haydenville school.

Last Monday night the Pattenville school house, about a mile and a half west of Logan suffered a fire, the floor burning out. Last week the school house at Coalgate was damaged by fire of unknown origin.

Most of those arrested and fined for not sending their children to school live in the Haydenville territory, officials asserted today.

HALF BLOCK BURNED

WELLSTON, Ohio. (Associated Press).—Half of a city block in the heart of Wellston was destroyed by fire here today. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

The fire started at 2 a. m., and is believed to have been caused by defective wiring. Fanned by a stiff wind, it spread rapidly, getting out of control of the local fire department. Apparatus was rushed from Jackson, ten miles away. The flames were gotten under control late in the morning.

The biggest losers are the Wellston Hardware Company and the Holstien Furniture Company, both of whose buildings and contents were destroyed entirely. The latter concern carried $40,000 insurance.

Large losses also were sustained at the Elks club, Willis-Jones law office and the Brown Coal Company.

It was January 23, a year ago, that the Lincoln hotel was burned to the ground, with a loss in excess of $100,000.

WILLIE AMES WINS DECISION OVER ANDY BOWEN

FIGHT IS CLOSE

(BY MERRICK M. HILL)

Willie Ames outpointed Andy Bowen by a considerable margin in the main go of the Memorial Hall card Tuesday night.

This was the decision of the judges and would have been the decision of the press box.

However, the general opinion among fans as they were leaving the arena was that the battle should have been a draw. Never before has so great an amount of dissatisfaction over a decision been expressed. This popular idea came from the fact that from a distance it was impossible to see that Ames was blocking most of Bowen's lefts and that Bowen was able to land tellingly but a very few punches.

Bowen, on the other hand, was the receiver of practically every punch known to Ames. When Bowen ducked, Ames would send his blows to Bowen's head. When Bowen stood erect he would receive a one-two series in both head and wind.

At the end of the fight, Bowen's face was cruelly swollen and his body was a mass of bruises, while Ames carried very few marks of the conflict.

In the first round, Ames established his superiority, getting to Bowen's wind several times. Bowen, however, proved that he was in better shape than he was when he last showed in Lima. In the next round, Ames opened a cut above Bowen's right eye and also drew claret from Andy's nose.

The third frame could easily have been the end of the fight for Bowen. If Ames had been able to dip in a little lay on the chin, Bowen suffered terribly from a furious onslaught of rights and lefts to the body and face. In the next round, however, Bowen came back strong and held the edge.

The rest of the fight was nearly even with perhaps a slight shade in Ames' favor.

Red Young and Hammering Howie fought to a draw in the first five of the evening. Both boys went at top speed for the entire distance, and the battle was highly pleasing to the fans.

Howie lived up to his name and was willing to exchange blows at any time and at any part of the ring. So was Red. The result was a battle full of action.

Red was able to use his left to good advantage all the way, while Howie's right seemed to cause Young trouble.

In the main prelim, Young Scotty was given the decision over Jimmy Andrews. Jimmy was slower than during previous trips in Lima ring, and was unable to judge distance.

In the opener, Young Ryal and Young Cardene fought four rounds to a draw.

Cardene was one of the largest to witness a boxing exhibition in several months.

A. E. F. ALL-STAR TEAM PICKED

(BY GUS M. OEHM)

BERLIN.—The All Star Football Team of the American Forces in Germany has been selected.

After a hard season in which the Third Battalion won the service championship, the old-time indoor sport of picking the All-American Army-in-Germany team resulted—probably for the first time in football history—in a practically unanimous choice.

Many of the stars are former college men who have been flushed over the wires as heroes of many an undergraduate pigskin combat.

Seven persons picked and they all coincided, it seems, when it came to select the all-star football team of the A. E. F., according to the American News, the service newspaper in Germany. The team follows:

First Team Position Second Team
Washington C. C. Brown
Zavarski R. D. Dodge
Damm R. D. Dodge
McGuire R. D. Dodge
Hoffman R. D. Dodge
Leonard R. D. Dodge
Vincent R. D. Dodge
Dugan R. D. Dodge
Buck R. D. Dodge
Hofelinger R. D. Dodge
Cassidy R. D. Dodge
Substitutes—Crane, O'Connell, Woltz and Campbell.

The Third Battalion leads with eight men, Machine Gunners second with seven, Headquarters Third, with five and the First Battalion last with two.

WALLACE SHOULD BE GOOD SCOUT

Bobby Wallace, in his day one of the greatest shortstops that ever lived, is a scout for the Chicago Cubs this year.

Wallace should prove a most valuable man to the Cubs from several angles. It is rather surprising that no American League club signed him to act in such a capacity.

No one is a better judge of a ball player than Wallace, and it is a pity that the Cubs will get none the worst of it from a scouting angle with Wallace looking after their interests.

In addition Wallace should prove a great help to Killifer in the development of his young infielders. Wallace, as past master at shortstopping, touching a runner being his specialty—should be able to polish the rough spots off Killifer's promising youngsters.

CHAPLAIN HILL, N. C. — William A. Blount, captain-elect of the University of North Carolina football team will not return to school next year and has tendered his resignation as leader of the team, it was announced today.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Alexander, star forward of the Connecticut Aggies, scored 19 points and gave the Harvard basketballers the first defeat of the season 30 to 37.

TOMMY QUINN BREAKS ARM

The battle with Fort Wayne Central Saturday night is one of the most important events in the cage schedule of St. Rose. A year ago the Fort Wayne outfit beat the Irish five by the score of 27 to 18 and the Rosarian team expects to receive revenge this year.

Both teams have defeated the Toledo Central five for a three point margin.

The St. Rose lineup has been changed again, due to the injury received by Tommy Quinn, who fractured his left arm in practice Tuesday night. Buchanan, the versatile center, who started the season at center was shifted to forward, will not go into a guard position.

Gomer, Munster, or Glandorf may probably be booked for Friday night.

BASKET BALL QUIZ by Referee

TIME OUT
Is there a penalty if a captain asks for time out when the ball is in possession of the opposing side out of bounds? Under such conditions time out should not be granted and a foul may be called by the referee for delaying the game.

FORFEIT
If, with only a minute to play, and one team leading 28 to 17, the other team refuses to continue to play because of a decision on the part of the referee and leaves the court, what is the forfeit? In the next round, the final score shall be 2 to 0.

TIME LIMIT
Is there any time limit that a player, after committing a dribble, may take before passing the ball or trying for a goal?

There is no limit. He can pass the ball or shoot for goal to suit his fancy. The action of the player with the ball is usually determined by the attitude of the opposition. It is closely guarded the player with the ball usually passes it immediately after completing the dribble.

OUT-OF-BOUNDS
How long may a player hold the ball while out of bounds? Is there any penalty for going beyond the limit if allowed by the referee?

A player who is putting the ball in play from out of bounds cannot hold the ball more than five seconds. If he does so the ball goes to an opponent at the same spot out of bounds.

PHALEN WINS

Paddy Phalen, Lima battler, who has been working out at the South-side boxing house, took a decision decisively over Piggy Young, of Cincinnati, before the Dayton A. C. Phalen has been keeping in fighting trim and has several other battles carded for the next few months.

Diamond Moguls Raise Clamor Over Status Of Benton

NEW YORK.—Rube Benton is not good enough to pitch ball in the American League, by an official mandate of Ban Johnson.

Benton isn't wanted in the National League because John Heydier, president of the league, and Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, think he isn't good enough.

But Benton is good enough for the American Association, and he probably will return to St. Paul, if organized baseball will not let him play with the Cincinnati Reds.

This is one of the inconsistencies that makes a joke out of organized baseball—that exposes its mercenary motives and its petty little jealousies.

The National and the American Leagues belong to organized baseball, and so does the American Association.

Benton may not be able to play in the major league, but he no doubt will be allowed to continue in the minor.

What does organized baseball mean?

If Benton has done anything that makes him undesirable as a major league ball player, he should be thrown out of baseball. If he is innocent of the charges and whispers made against him, his accusers ought to be thrown out of the game.

Ban Johnson bases his objection to the admission of Benton to the American League on the story that Benton knew the 1919 series has been fixed and that he bet and won $1500 on it.

Benton admits winning $1500, but comes back with the answer that he was a National League player and that he bet on the National League team as many other players did.

Heydier's objection to Benton is more of a secret. It probably has something to do with the row between the former Giant pitcher and Charley Herzog, in which each accused the other of making overtures to throw a game. Heydier unofficially whitewashed Benton of those charges, by allowing him to remain in the league while Herzog went elsewhere.

The objections of Barney Dreyfuss to the return of Benton are the result of both mercenary and personal motives. Since Garry Herr-

SNYDER STAGES COMEBACK

(BY BILLY EVANS)

John McGraw calls Frank Snyder, clever lackstop of the New York Giants, "the perfect catcher."

In discussing the great catchers the National League has produced McGraw says:

"Frank Snyder is the ideal catcher. He is the equal of any backstop the National League has developed."

In paying that compliment to Snyder I am not unmindful of the fact that in Roger Bresnahan, George Gibson, Charley Doolin, Johnny Kling and Jimmy Archer, the National League boasts some great receivers.

In referring to Snyder as the ideal catcher, McGraw has in mind his physical makeup, his fearless nature, his mechanical excellence and his ability to think.

HAS HAD UNUSUAL CAREER
Snyder's career is indeed unusual. He was considered a brilliant catcher during his term with the St. Louis Cardinals. Something happened to the right arm—rheumatism, or something that took the smoke out of it and in 1918 he was put on the trade market.

Snyder offered for trade was a shock in National League headquarters. The year before, Miller Huggins, as manager of the Cardinals, had refused a cash offer of $50,000 from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Nevertheless, Snyder had a lame arm and Riskey did not want him.

McGraw, always admiring the pluck and courage of the husky Texan, played a long shot and won. He traded Ferdinand Schupp for Snyder and Snyder a state right arm.

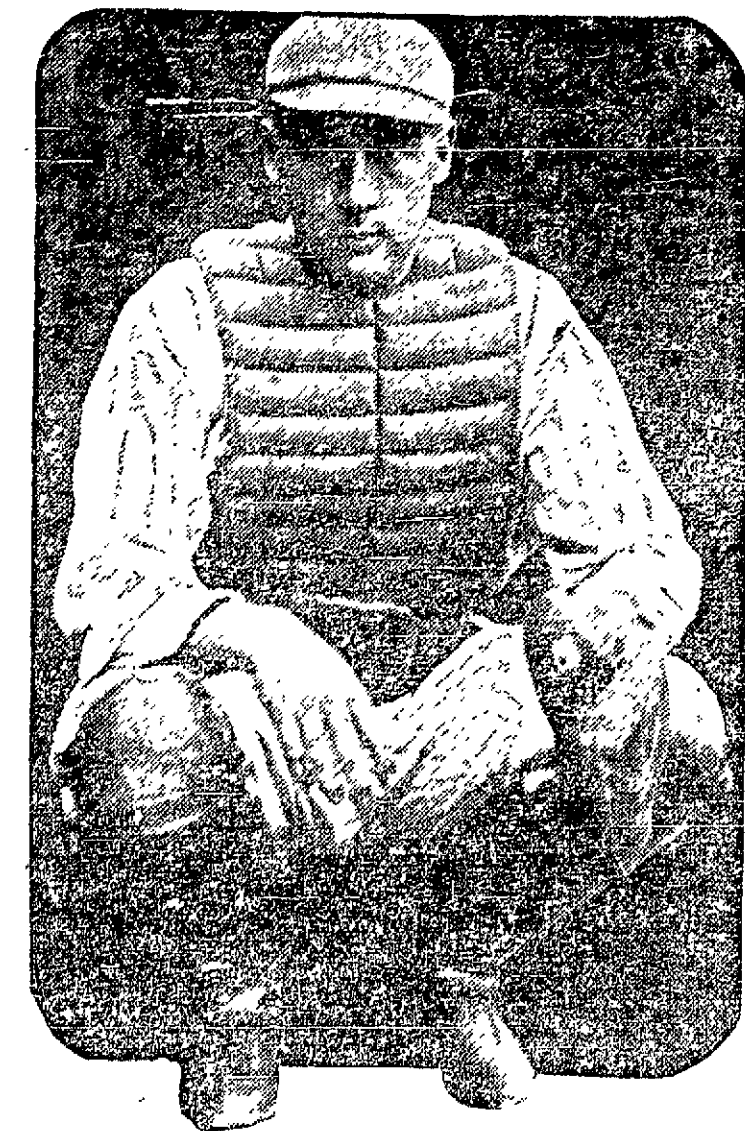

STARRED AGAINST YANKEES
Snyder came back. Last season, with an average of .243 he was the hardest-hitting catcher in the National League.

That McGraw puts a guarantee behind his word is shown by the work of the Giants in the last two world series with the Yankees. Snyder has caught 10 of the 18 games.

Earl Smith was regarded as a young phenom until Snyder recovered his form and Smith has been forced to play second fiddle to Snyder.

The work of the Giants' pitchers is a record of two world series. McGraw has been given most of the credit by the experts. Here is what he says:

"Snyder's catching in the two series with the Yankees was perfect. That means everything to a pitcher."

Floyd Johnson Signed To Meet Gibbons In March

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK.—When Young Floyd Johnson, Iowa, starts out to go somewhere, he has all the hesitancy and timidity of a Barney Oldfield or a Jimmy Murphy.

Just a couple of months ago, Johnson announced that he was setting out after the world's heavyweight championship and that he expected to get there by all the short cuts in record time.

First he cleared one of the hardest obstacles on the road in the person of old Bill Brennan. Now he has picked the one that was in general more unannounced, in saying a few days ago that he should avoid—Tommy Gibbons.

Jess Willard, Harry Wells, Luis Firpo and Jack Dempsey are the next steps, Johnson's handlers say, and they mean it. Charley Cook, who handles the young Iowa, evidently believes the only way to test metal is to shove it into the fire and give it a good pounding. Cook knows also that it doesn't hurt some young fellows to realize that they have to keep working hard. Johnson and Gibbons were signed to go 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden on March 19, for the milk fund, one of New York's big charities. The boys are not fighting for charity, however, cash terms prevailing.

Gibbons fought Harry Greb and lost last year for the same fund, but perhaps it isn't a jinx.

Johnson's handlers, in picking Gibbons as the next jump for the youngster, are working on the theory that the St. Paul contender lacks a "heart." Their plan of battle is to carry a whirlwind attack to Gibbons for four or five rounds and they figure that he will start to run.

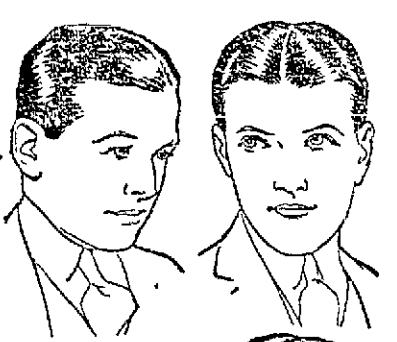

With a man who can hit like Gibbons would seem a rather delicate experiment to determine if he has not a fighting heart. Johnson, however, must be given credit for taking a chance.

Against Greb last year, Gibbons looked slow and seemed to lack the determination to take advantage of several fine openings, which made him appear rather timid looking.

Most every one agreed, however, that Gibbons was off form that night and every one will agree that Johnson is no Harry Greb. There is only one Greb in the game.

BULLSEYES of BASEBALL

NO. 15—THE TRICKIEST PLAY I EVER SAW

The hidden-ball play is not regarded as sportsmanlike by many of our leading experts on baseball.

The hidden-ball play must be classed in the category of tricks. Therefore it is fitting and proper that I credit Babe Pinelli of Cincinnati with putting the trickiest play—it would be more correct if I said plays—I ever saw on the ball field.

Some years ago the Carlisle Indians pulled the hidden-ball trick in football against Harvard. Receiving the kickoff, the Carlisle interference formed for the runner with the ball. Hidden behind the interference, the runner who had received the kickoff stuck the ball under the back of the jersey worn by Dillen. An elastic band had been provided to retain the ball.

Then the Indians separated and all dropped their arms to their side as they raced down the field toward the Harvard goal. The Crimson players were unable to dope it out. Dillen ran the length of the field for a touchdown.

The next year the rules committee legislated against the hidden-ball trick. It no longer has a place in the gridiron sport.

Such action has several times been suggested relative to the hidden-ball trick in baseball, but no action has ever been taken to abolish it.

The play being legal, Pinelli, who holds the championship on pulling the hidden ball, must be given due credit for a clever manner in which he pulls it.

He showed such a star game at third for Cincinnati last year that when I saw him pull the trickiest play I ever saw.

Washington was playing at Detroit. Sam Rice, one of the best base runners in the game, was on third. Washington needed his run.

I was umpiring the bases. The Detroit infield held several conferences with the Tiger pitcher. In some way Pinelli got possession of the ball. I would never have known it had Pinelli not tipped me off as he went by. Rice took his usual big lead and fell an easy victim for the trick play saved the game.

Boston played the Tigers the following day. Ball players don't like to be caught by the hidden-ball trick. The Red Sox "razzed" Pinelli from the bench for his "bush stuff" as they called it.

"Don't get chesty. I'll probably get one of you boys before the day is over," replied Pinelli.

Two innings later he tricked Stuffie Smith on the hidden-ball play. Never before have I seen two major league players the victims of the hidden-ball trick on successive days.

Pinelli tells me that he has pulled it a dozen times every year since he has been in baseball.

TOMORROW.—The most sensational play I ever saw.

NEW YORK.—Expecting the necessity of defending the international cup in 1924 against challengers from England and South America, the United States Polo Association has decided not to send a team to the Paris Olympic games.

Both Games To Be Good

Take your choice. Both games will be good. Both local teams are going at a great rate, and both visiting teams represent the classiest opposition that can be found.

The Lima Leads are playing their first home game of the season Wednesday night at the St. Rose auditorium. The Y. M. C. A. five will play host to the Marion Y quintet at the Y. M. C. A.

It is seldom, indeed, that two first-class independent games are scheduled for the same night and a large number of dyed-in-the-wool cage followers are wondering if it is possible for them to decide which game to see.

"CHRISTIAN" A GREAT PLAY—BELASCO IN FILMS

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
MAURICE Tournier has made a movie from Sir Hall Caine's "The Christian."
"The Christian" is a big photoplay—big in concept and in treatment. It is the best photoplay Maurice Tournier has yet made. It is a more substantial contribution to the screen than all of the photoplays Goldwyn released in 1922.

The story of "The Christian" is too familiar to be recounted here in detail. Written a quarter of a century ago, it is Hall Caine's most widely circulated novel. It has been enacted on the stage and has twice before been transferred to the screen.

John Storm, the hero, renounces a career as a statesman to enter the clergy when he witnesses some of the woes that beset the world. Glory Quayle, whom he loves, has never seen anything but poverty and refuses to marry him when he takes up a career that means poverty and privation.

Glory becomes a nurse in a London hospital and Storm enters a monastery. There he is torn between conflicting emotions and when his affection for the girl triumphs he forswears his vows. Leaving the monastery he learns that she is now a great stage favorite. He establishes a mission and gains great popularity with the rabble until his work is undone by evil forces.

He visits Glory to kill her, believing that he is following the dictate of God. She protests her love for him and he, his love for her, leaving her home he is set upon by a mob and mortally wounded. Before his death, Glory is carried to him and promises he shall be her only bridegroom.

BELASCO ENTERS MOVIES

David Belasco, considered by many to be the greatest producing genius of the American theater, has at last entered the movies. He has contracted with Warner Brothers to aid in the preparation of continuity and to pass upon completed pictures before they are cut and titled. The first three Belasco productions to be made by the Warners will be "The Gold Diggers," "Daddies" and "Deburau." If Belasco is then content with his venture into moviedom, "Tiger Rose" and "Kiki" both with Lenore Ulric as star, will be produced.

Since Belasco has entered the movies it may be that David Warfield will be won over to the cinema fold. However, Warfield and Marcus Loew, president of Metro, are as thick as Damon and Pythias. If Warfield over enters the movies it probably will be as a Metro star.

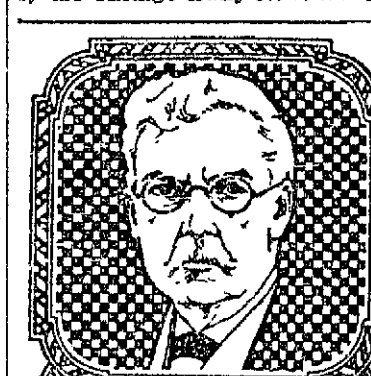

RICHARD DIX AND MAE BUSCH IN CLOSING SCENE OF "THE CHRISTIAN." BELOW, DIX AS JOHN STORM, TAKES VOWS ON ENTERING A MONASTERY.

with Paramount. He directed Douglas Fairbanks in "Robin Hood."

Dr. Emilio Coue, it is said, has been offered a salary of $5,000 a week by Preferred Pictures to appear in films.

Joe Bonomo's dream of becoming a film star came true yesterday. He signed a five year contract in New York with Universal and started to work immediately in his first role as strong man in the production of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." Carl Laemmle telegraphed to New York for Bonomo, who won the "Perfect Apollo" contest conducted by the Chicago Daily News last year.

Advance Dope on What's to Come to Faurot

HERE'S an outline of the five acts which are scheduled to open a three day engagement at the Faurot, on Thursday afternoon. The bill is widely varied and contains many features of merit.

Hardy Brothers, billed as Australian Boomerang throwers, have a novel offering which combines great skill with a lot of good clean comedy.

Burns and Lorraine, dancing comedians, are two clever young men who have a medley of comedy bits and hits, and who will undoubtedly prove highly entertaining.

J. C. Lewis, Jr. and company, offering two refreshing youngsters in an original and highly diverting sketch. These charming children are possessors of genuine talent, and they are assisted by an adult man and woman.

Grew and Pates, in a whimsical comedy of life, with greatly cultivated good-looking, well appearing young men, who are all gifted with splendid voices and whose song numbers are rendered in ultra style. As the headline, the act is said to be extraordinary.

On the same program, a two reel smashing comedy and a Mutt & Jeff cartoon are also featured.

THEATRE DIRECTORY

AT THE LYRIC
"My Parents," a dramatic comedy, opens a four day engagement today at the Lyric theater. An all-star cast is to be seen in the production. Also a comedy and other feature.

AT THE RIALTO
"The Power of a Lie," in which a competent cast is seen, terminates a two day engagement today at the Rialto. Also added features.

PAIN FROM BACK

Ah! Pain is gone! St. Jacobs Oil acts almost like magic.

Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and relief comes. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless, backbone, headache and stiffness cure with never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous stitches. In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.—Adv.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Dr. V. H. Hay reports a neighbor woman who rented a new garage backing the car out of the garage she broke a hinge off the door of the building.

She summoned a man she thought was the janitor and hired him to repair the door, so the landlord wouldn't know about it.

Some days later she learned that it was the landlord who had hired.

Charles F. Stevens, shoe repairer, E. High-st., records the sad experience of a friend who tried to play a practical joke on an acquaintance. "He propped up a bucket of water in the man's room so that it would spill when the door was opened," says Stevens. "Then he rushed back into the room to get his gloves which he forgot, and spilled the water on himself."

Herman Vauhel, Wapakoneta attorney, set out from his home in the morning, with a smile on his face and his lips puckered in a whistle.

"I tripped over the door mat and sat down on his new derby hat," says Vauhel. "Then he rushed back into the room to get his gloves which he forgot, and spilled the water on himself."

Lafe Kanning, former postmaster at New Bremen and at one time some pumpkin as a football player, gave his little nephew a football for Christmas.

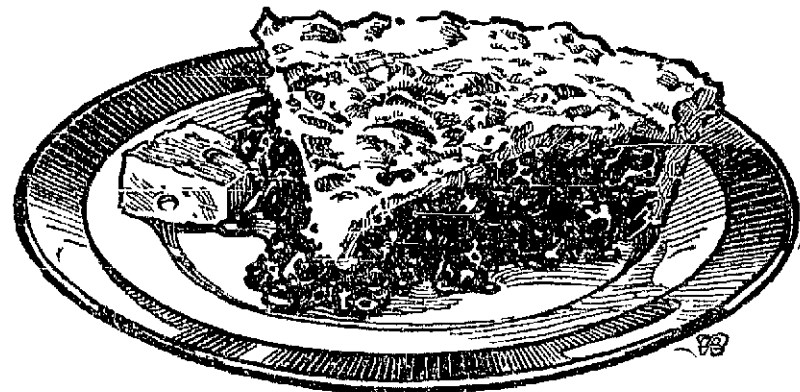

He showed them how to catch it in their arms. He was running to make a difficult catch when he landed in a duck pond. Then play stopped.

Rube Steiner found he had only two matches when he started to light a cigar, a friend states in telling of Steiner's experience.

"He dropped one match and couldn't find it, even after he looked the other one to find it," the friend states.

Dr. J. C. Nagelson, dentist, was presented with a handsome memorandum book on his birthday recently.

"This was so he could jot down anything he wished to remember, but which otherwise he might forget," he says. "I think it would be a great help if I could only remember to use it."

WHY GROW FAT?

Druggist Tells of Easy Pleasant Way to Keep Trim Attractive Figure Even at Middle Age

Thousands of women who have had a trim, stylish figure all their lives begin to take on weight in early middle life. And because they have heard of "Fat and Forty"—and because foolish starvation diets, ridiculous exercises and certain medicines only seem to make their condition worse, they give up all hope and say, "Oh, well, I rather be fat anyway."

Fat that shows—fat that comes and stays is not only unbecoming, but may prove dangerous, a decided disadvantage, to your necessary activity and pleasure. So why stay that way?

No special exercises or diets! No dangerous or sickening medicines. Just a cooling, sparkling, appetizing, pleasant to take—but quickly and noticeably effective.

You Never Can Tell---

The average person is not in a position to determine just how serious an illness may be.

One of the chief reasons for many serious illnesses is that in the beginning self-diagnosis and self-treatment were resorted to.

The "ordinary cold," the pain that will "pass off," the slight case of this or that, may prove to be from entirely different causes than those imagined.

All of which is to point out—to emphasize—the necessity of consulting the physician in time.

Yet your case be diagnosed by one whose entire skill and time are devoted to the relief of human ills—the physician. And aid his work by having his prescriptions filled at the Market Street Drug Store—where prescription work holds the place of first importance.
